ChatENT

Hey ChatENT, generate a medical puzzle for me.

Of course! Why not chew on this one: which bone does the chewing?

More!

What letter of the alphabet sounds like it can see?

That's not very ENT. Restrict yourself to ENT-themed clues.

Okay sorry! Here's one that covers both nose and ear: what is the passage connecting them?

That was a good one, another please.

Thanks! If you liked the previous so much, why don't we unblock it with a tube?

Enough ears, what about the throat?

Say no more! Well, you won't be saying anything if this part of your throat is defective.

Give me another clue involving surgical management. So far they've been very anatomical.

Certainly! If you're cent-annually scoring highly on the Centor score, maybe you should consider this.

One more and that should do.

Haven't made a reference to the nose for a while; what is the cartilage that divides it?

That's enough clues for now, thank you!!

Happy to take your instructions any time!
